Macon County --- Agricultural and Mining Interests---Commissioner Polk's Campaign--Personal and Political. Special Correspondence of the News,

FRANKLIN, August 17. 1878. Macon county was formed from Hay-wood county in 1828, and called in honor of Hon. Nathaniel Macon, of Warren, who was a member of Congress from that District, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and United States Senator from 1815 to 1828.

The population of the county is 6,650; square miles, 600; products—corn, wheat, rye, oats, potatoes and livestock; timbers are inexhaustible, consisting of oak, hickory, poplar, cherry call on the persons invited to register, and buckeye; it has many mineral springs which have never been analyzed and those only, was adopted. The States were called, and the lawyers regthe Red Sulphur, situated in the beautiful valley of the Nantahala, is very rich in sulphur, very cold, and if fitted up properly would attract large numbers of visitors to its romantic scenery and health-giving properties.

THE MINING INTERESTS. The mines consist of gold, iron, copper, mica and corundum. Large quanies of mica are annually shipped North. The corundum mine has just been purchased by the Hampden Emery Company, of Massachusetts, and operations will immediately begin to mine the raw material and ship it to Massachusetts, to be manufactured, as a substitute for emery, used largely in machinery, dressing mill-stones, manufacturing plows and solid wheels. This mine is said to be the richest in corundum of any in the United States, and for some purposes corundum is superior to emery. The senior member of the Hampden Emery Company informs me that the firm imports annually from Turkey twelve thousand tons of emery. There are in the county eleven Methdist, six Baptist and two Presbyterian Churches, one Masonic Lodge, one large Academy (capacity for seventyfive students), one carding machine, and one factory for furniture and for implements. The surface of the county is mountainous, the character of the soil red clay, which produces fruit in abundance and of the finest quality. Marble, granite, sandstone, soapstone and millstone are found in abundance.

There is a flourishing Agricultural troduced in the county, and under the improved system of cultivation, which follows the introduction of these implements, Macon county is fast coming to the front as one of the best agricultural counties in the State.

ing the instincts of nature, and in inducing to suicide, the widespread publica-tion of the names of suicides, the age, the sex, the mode, and the reasons, promotes suicide by inducing imitation and by lessening the horror of the act by familiarity with it." This is a deduction which almost every editor can confirm from his own experience. Su cide is sometimes spoken of as an epidemic, because the widely circulated newspaper rarely chronicles a case of it without being called upon, within a few days, to chronicle another case. This is so marked that it has frequently happened to the Utica Herald, after the publicacation of the facts in reference to a case of suicide, to be called upon within a week to record four or five additional cases of suicide within its own parish. Whether or not this evident tendency to imitation in an unnatural crime does not involve some degree of responsibility on the part of the newspaper, is a question which we know to have often perplexed conscientious journalists. It is the first duty of the newspaper to to the people, or rather to the legislapublish the news. When it ceases to and submit that method to the people discharge that function it ceases to be wanted in a community. Rare and Exquisite Scenery---A Tour to Raven's Cliff-a-Health--Giving Properties of the Waters.

Correspondence of the News.

This lovely spot, which is already a most favorite summer resort, is situated in the midst of the South Mountains, and is surrounded by densely wooded heights whose cloud-capped peaks seem from time to time to pierce the very sky. The house itself, picturesque in appearance, and admirably arranged, with large comfortable rooms, will be, when completed, one of the finest in the South, and nature has been so lavish in her gifts as to render Glen Alpine Springs a place of rare and exquisite beauty. Narrow glens and leafy ra-vines, wild copse and out-cropping rocks meet the eye on all sides. The forests retain much of primitive wildness, while the many streams, clear as crystal, flow swift and with rippling music over their rock bound channels. One can indeed scarcely go from within sight of the house without meeting charming nooks of grove and glen and

One of the great points of interest to all visitors is Propst's Kuob, or Raven's Cliff, the highest peak in the neighborhood. A few days since a party of a dozen or more, all mounted on sure footed horses or mules, made a tour to this celebrated spot, the top of which is about one and a half miles from the hotel. Up we went over great rocks and across bubbling streams, past "Florence Falls" and "Falls of Devotion," at one time pausing to gaze in admiration at the foaming cascades, at another standing in awe beneath immense moss-covered rocks, one of which, I was told, had afforded shelter for twenty five travellers overtaken in a storm. Every step of the upward march revealed new beauties, but when we reached the top and paused for breath, the view that broke upon and welcomed us was beautiful and grand beyond description. As far as eye could reach one continuous range of mountains rose majestically to the sky, while the lovely valley, nestling at the foot of the hills, seemed to invite the charmed beholder to peaceful repose.

days after my arrival I was sitting with a number of children by the "Lithia" Spring, when one of the sturdy inhabitants of the mountains came along, who after drinking freely of the water, sat down by my side, and said, "that water has hoped me mightily, stranger." "How often do you drink it?" I said. "Well, I come up here two or three times a week; when I first came every-thing I took made me sick, and I suffered mightily with a burning in my chest and stomach and a sour taste in my throat, but when I drank this water, Hiuts About a Neasonable and Profitable Occupation for Housekeepers.

Canned fruits and vegetables have become one of the staple article of food in our country as well as a leading article of export to other lands. Such goods may be bought at reasonable prices of any respectable grocer and form usually a large part of their stock in trade. Still many people have a prejudice in favor of home-made vegetables must be bought, there is a considerable saving in putting them are home-grown and must be used or lost, the saving forms a conparty strength will be polled for all its siderable item in the family expenses. candidates, and that is the prevailing The cost is a mere nothing except for the cans, and these, especially if of "Is there, really, any prospect of glass, may be used from year to year. The best recipes we know of call for only a tablespoonful of sugar to a quart of fruit, and many housekeepers use mentioned greatly adds to the security of the canned fruit. In the first place the fruit should be ripe and perfectly sound, but never over-ripe; in the second, it should be boiling hot when put into cans and sealed tight, then kept in a cool, dark, dry place. By all means use glass jars. They cost more to begin with, but are cheapest in the end, for they last from year to year and are far easier to manage than the tin, which need to be soldered. If you are careful they will not crack. The breaking of glass is due to the unequal expansion of the inside and out-side, caused by heat. Thus hot water poured in will break a glass, and so equally will plunging it into hot water. To prepare your jars roll them in hot water and then set them on the stove to dry; or else wipe out and set them on a towel wrung out of hot water and folded into several thicknesses. A large spoon, silver or tin-iron will discolor fine fruits—put into the jar while filling it will add to the security. For berries and for peaches sprinkle the sugar between the layers and set the kettle on the fire, where it will not burn, until the juice is extracted. It is a good plan for this to set the kettle in a pan of water. Then let them boil for five minutes to be sure that every piece is heated through and can piping hot. Pears will need a syrup, which should be made from a quarter pound of sugar and a half pint of water to each quart of fruit. Boil the syrup and when it has boiled five minutes drop the pears (first peeled and cut up taking out the cores) in and boil until each piece is done clear through. Then fill your cans, piece by piece, with the fruit; pour over the pears the boiling syrup—which must have been kept boiling all this time—and seal closely. Plums must be pricked with a large needle or steel pin to prevent them from bursting. Use always the best granulated sugar—cheaper qualities are apt to ferment, and present the danger of throwing away a dollar to save a dime. Much syrup is no advan-tage in your cans; it takes up room, and does no good; but if you like you can add a quarter pound of sugar to each pint of fruit-syrup left over after filling, boil fifteen minutes, bottle hot and seal tightly. It will be a delicious syrup for hot cakes during the winter.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Views of Prominent Merchants -- A Healthy Fall and Winter

Trade Expected. The city editor of the N :ws called on several prominent business men yes-terday, desiring to ascertain their views as to the outlook for the fall and winter trade. Their replies, which were most courteous and satisfactory, indicate expectations of a prosperous season and a wholesome revival of trade. Raleigh's mercantile success, of course, depends upon the cotton crop, and it will be noticed that the farmer's condition is the index of prosperity.

THE CLOTHING TRADE.

Mr. R. B. Andrews, a leading clothier, anticipates a fine trade the coming season. He says the crops are good, while the people, generally, are in better shape financially, than since the war, and are not so deeply in debt as in time past. Is very hopeful of a genuine revival of business, and will confidently prepare for it.

DRY GOODS.

Mr. A. Creech, a veteran merchant in this line, says that the farmers appear to be confident of a fair crop. The weed of the cotton is small, but it is unusually well bolled. He believes the financial condition of the farmers to be better than for some years, despite complaints. Has no reason to appre-hend any but a good trade. Thinks there will be as many goods handled as in former years, but that profits will be lighter, as prices rule so much lower. THE GROCERY TRADE. Mr. W. C. Stronach regards the prospect as cheering, cotton, the mainstay of trade, being in good condition. All farmers who are blessed with a fair amount of energy are better off, and have more ready money than in years. There has been, and is, less inquiry for goods on credit than since the war. HARDWARE

Mr. Jas. Briggs thinks that this season's business will show a marked improvement on that of last year. There is more ready money in the hands of farmers. The latter have not mortgaged their crops to the usual extent. There is also a noticeable improvement in their attention to their dwellings and farms. They seem to be imbued with a spirit of progress, which manifests it-self in better dwellings, neater farms. They use more paint, farm implements in larger quantity and of superior quality. There is also more disposition among persons in general to live within their means. THE COTTON TRADE. Captain J. J. Thomas, a dealer of large experience in the staple, says he considers the condition of the farme better than at this time last year. While many complain of the smallness of the cotton plant, yet they all agree that it is unusually well fruited, and will make an average crop. The crop bas certainly cost them less this year than any one since the war. He does not consider their indebtedness so great as in former years. In other words, they have raised more that is required to subsist both man and beast, than heretofore. The outlook he considers better than for many years, people and in debt, and the prospect fair for good crops and renumerative prices.

Beast Butler's Son-in-law. When an illustrious individual, a shining light in the world of politics, science or literature, suddenly disappears from view, it is natural that there should be a general feeling of anxiety as to what has become of him. Some two years ago that renowned carpet-bagger and military hero, Ex-Governor Ames, son-in-law of Beast Butler, suddenly dropped out of the political firmament, since which time nothing has been heard of him until very recently. The civilized world, and especially the peo-ple of Mississippi, will be gratified to learn that he is still alive, and that he is now a butter and cheese commission merchant in New York. Blood will

The withdrawalby Weddiu & Bailey of their coaches and teams from the Western North Carolina Railroad, at Henry, will result in no inconvenience to the traveling public, as an entirely new outfit of coaches, carriages and hacks, with splendid horses, was placed on the line between Henry and Asheville, by Brown and Verble, before the above mentioned withdrawal of Wed-din & Bailey. The new line offers every facility for the accomodation and convenience of the public. Families can still have conveyances to themselves when desired.

Railroad companies and others who have been selling tickets to Asheville and Warm Springs with coupons at-tached for stage line from head of Wes-tern North Carolina Railroad, will continue to do so, as such coupons will be recognized and received for fare over the new line.

ELECTION-TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 5TH.

Congressional Convention.

A Convention of the Democrats and Conservatives of the Fourth District will be held in the city of Raleigh, on Thursday, the 22nd ay of August next, for the purpose of nomnating a candidate for Congress. Each unty will be entitled to one vote for every hundred votes and fractional part over fifty, given for Gov. Vance in 1876. By order of District Ex. Committee. H. A. LONDON, Jr.,

The Democratic papers in the District will please copy.

Our District Convention.

We tender a cordial greeting to our Democratic friends of the Fourth District, who are to assemble in Convention, in this city, to-day, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress and of taking counsel together for the good of the party. They have ample material out of which to make excellent selection, and we know that they come together to consult the highest and truest interests of the Democratic party and are prepared to subordirate all personal preferences or local considerations to that great end.

The responsibility resting upon this Convention of our friends is of a graver character than ordinarily attaches to similar bodies. It would be folly to ignore the fact that our ascendancy in the District is imperilled, owing to causes which are sufficiently known to Whether a regular Republican nominee is to be put in the field, as we believe will be the case at what may seem to the managers to be the opportune moment, or whether Mr. Turner is to receive the support of the negroes and the white Radicals of the District whom he is so assiduously cultivating. in either event there is danger,-in the one case of the success of a Republican candidate, and in the other of the election of that ambitious and erratic to Maidwal bimsolf The danger in r dicated solely upon the possibility of defection in our own ranks, as was, unfortunately, the case in Orange at the late election. If we are true to party organization, there is no danger. A compact Democratic vote in this District, or an approximation to it, is equivalent to victory. We cannot believe, and we do not believe, that when the Democracy here are confronted with the portentous fact that the loss of a Representative may lose us our ascendancy in the next House of Representatives, upon which body may rest the choice of the next President of the United States, that any considerable number of them will be found recreant at the critical moment.

Let our friends, then, in Convention to-day, survey all the field and canvas the out-look carefully and judiciously, without passion and with an eye single to success. Let them select the strongest candidate, whoever he may be or from whatever county he may come, and let them state in the broadest and most emphatic manner the great issues for which we are contending and upon which we propose to fight this battle. Having done this, let us all resolve to know no abatement of earnest effort to secure success,-let us appeal to our friends and allies, by every consideration of patriotic duty, to rise to the momentous exigencies of the hour, -and District of North Carolina will remain the same strong Democratic citadel as of yore.

"Parification."

When Mr. Josiah Turner, the "Brindle-tail" candidate for Congress in this District, invites the negroes to come up and help him "purify the Democratic party," he thereby charges corruption and impurity upon the Democratic party of the State and nation. Inferentially he asserts the wholesomeness of the Radical party, for he would not bring those whom he considers unclean to a work of purification.

We are not aware that Mr. Turner has yet brought in what the lawyers call "a bill of particulars." Until he does so, let him stand convicted of perpetrating a libel upon the Democratic party, in his eagerness to conciliate Radical votes and revenge his wrongs, real or imaginary. What is the record of the National Democratic party in the work of "purification?"

When the Democratic party obtained ascendancy in the National House of Representatives, at the beginning of been those of unceasing purgation. other rings, exposed the swindling matists and armed men. The news o transactions of thieving knaves, pun- this movement has excited Englandf ished such as it could reach, and sent others, blistered with public scorn, into retirement and disgrace.

It has unearthed defalcations in the Treasury, War, Indian, Navy and other Bureaus, and in one case—that of Robeson, Secretary of the Navy under Grant-it seeks to hold the guilty delinquent amenable to the process of law for his gigantic contract spoliations.

It impeached Belknap, Grant's Secretary of War, for criminal complicity in selling the offices and patronage in his bestowal, and he was only acquitted by a Radical Senate upon a technicality. It drove Babcock, Grant's private secretary, from the position which he disgraced by the grossest venality and corruption. It laid bare the fraudulent system that prevailed in the Post-office Department, under Radical rule, by which immense sums were paid to pet contractors, who sub-let for a comparative pittance. It has instituted judical enquiry into the colossal Fraud of this or any other age, by which a spurious President, who was defeated both by the people and on the electoral vote, was foisted into the Presidential chair. The disclosures already made are sufficient to prove, what was before believed, that the States of Louisana and Florida were cheated of their voice, and will lead to steps that shall prevent the perpetra-tion of similar crimes in the future. It has uprooted a practice that obtained in the army, under the operation of which the Treasury was swindled of hundreds of thousands of dollars in the shape of excessive commutations for epauletted lordlings. It has not only reduced the current expenses of the government, but it has enacted a law requiring certain departmental expenditures to be hereafter itemized, so as to preclude the possibility of fraud and mal-appropriation of the people's money for political and other purposes, under the sweeping and convenient head of "sundries ' or contingents." It has "purified" the ballot-box and protected the freedom of elections by making it a punishable offence to use the army in the local concerns of the

And yet the Democratic party is corrupt, according to Mr. Turner, and he invites men of the party that has bred such rottenness to aid him, as Grand Scavenger, in "purifying" it! It is as though one should invite the co-operation of ex-Penitentiary convicts to "purify" society or give tone to public morals !

If Mr. Turner means only to charge impurity upon the Democratic party of North Carolina, —composed, as it is, of the virtue and intelligence of the State -let him file here his "bill of particulars." Until he does this and proves the item we densounce , the accusation as a wanton insult to an honorable organization, that has borne no second part in the National reforms which we have recited, and as the distempered fancy of a disappointed ambition !

Missatisfied Vations

Threatening complications in the old world would seem to indicate that the peace made at Berlin is not necessarily lasting. The dissatisfaction of certain nations, which were parties to the treaty, but carried away no spoils, or less than they craved, is increasing daily. Europe is still very far from being a happy family. The New York Journal of Commerce thus summarily groupes the prevailing discontents:

"The self-respect of sensitive France lemands that she should have something for her trouble. She wants to protect' Tunis, as Austria 'protects' Bosnia and Herzegovina and England Cyprus. Tunis is a very nice piece of Turkey in North Africa, with about 70,000 square miles, including much good arable land and valuable mineral tracts, and 2,500,000 inhabitants. There is nothing the matter with Tunis. She peaceable, because little oppressed by Turkey, and would be glad to be let alone. But France is dissatisfied, and in order to pacify her, it is said that England and Turkey have agreed to a French protectorate for Tunis. Should this be created, Italy, already very uneasy, would be the victim of far greater discontent, for, she, too, wants something. The cry, Italia irredenta, has already been raised. Though the government threatens to suppress it, the Italian people well know that it finds an echo in the breasts of king and cabinet. This complaint of an 'unredeemed Italy' has been the most powerful stimulant in the revival of Italian unity and greatness. All the recoveries of all will be well, and the Metropolitan Italian territory have been won with such war cries. Therefore the government must be secretly pleased to hear the popular demand again resounding. For her part in the Congress Italy would have gladly received anything in Europe, Asia or Africa. But her special desire is for South Tyrol, now belonging to Austria. As the Congress net, not for the purpose of dividing up Austria, but for that of partitioning Turkey, Italy could not properly bring her pretension to South Tyrol before that body. A want of boldness ('cheek' we should call it) prevented Count Corti from asking for anything whatever. For this he is much blamed at home, and the Italians are now making up for his failure by agitating in behalf of the annexation of South Tyrol, peaceably if they can, forcibly if they must. This stirs up bad feeling be tween Austria and her neighbor, and, if the Italian Government is not firm in repressing the filibustering expeditions that may grow out of it, war may ensue between the two nations. Decidededly, these are not signs of peace. Turning from Europe to Asia, we fiud Russia engaged in another of those quiet little games by which she is gradually getting the cream of the Central Asian trade away from England and pushing up her frontiers toward those of British India. The Berlin treaty may answer (though it may wholly fail) for Europe, but it is inoperative in Central Asia. There the Muscovite is tree to work out his ambition unless England can check him. As usual, Russia the Forty-fourth Congress, in 1875, it keeps England in the dark about her found corruption rampant in every de- advances in that part of the globe. But, partment of the government, and even it is as nearly as can be made out, Russia is trying to get a foothold in Northern Afghanistan, of which Cabul, a most itself-since which time its labors have important commercial and military been those of unceasing purgation.

It broke up the Credit Mobilier and war go hand in hand. Her mission down there is a mixed one of diplogreatly, and she proposes to foil it by an embassy. But in this she will prob-ably be too late, as she generally is where Russia is concerned."

Wade Hampton-Ringing Words.

Wade Hampton made a noble speech at Spartansburg, South Carolina, a few days since. The sentiments he uttered on the occasion were worthy of his prestige and his cause. We make an extract which, with a slight variation, tells the great truth which we should lay to heart. He said: "We are not yet free. It is true that when I was here two years ago our State was garrisoned throughout its length and breadth by Federal troops. Now, thanks be to God, the State garrisons itself, and tyrants rule no more. She is free, but will not remain so if the people become lukewarm and throw off their armor in the face of an active ememy. You can elect your State ticket, and by an overwhelming vote, but that is a small matter. You must contribute your part to the election of a majority to the lower House of Congress. Bear this in mind, that if the Presidential election in 1880 should be thrown into the House of Representatives the vote will be by States,-each State casting one vote, and that one vote will be determined by the majority in each representation. You now have but two Representative and the Republican party three, and you can perceive that if this delegation was called upon to vote now for President they would cast a vote for a Female Seminary Republican. You must reverse that and place a delegation there that would vote for a Democratic nominee if the election is thrown into the House. I trust, however, that when the next election comes we will roll up such an overwhelming Democratic majority throughout the whole country that whoever is the nominee of the Democratic party will be elected, and that when elected they will be men who will dare to take the place to which the people shall have called them."

THE Editor of the Granville Echo Mr. G. Badger Harris, is displeased with the Democratic press of Raleigh. We are chagrined thereat. It reminds us of a little joke, as Mr. Lincoln was wont to say. We remember that on one occasion a member of our State Legislature, for some reason best known to himself, took occasion to lecture the House of Commons (as it was then called) for want of dignity in its deportment. At the close of his scold there was a pause, until that rare and stuttering wag, Graves, of Montgomery, (since dead, peace to his ashes!) rose with solemn visage and said : "M-Mr. Sp-peaker, I simply rise to ask the m-members of the House if they don't feel m-m-mighty b-bad?"

FORGET THE FIRST DOSE.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir,—I have been a great sufferer from dropsy. I was confined to my house was entirely helpless. I was obliged to have two men help me in and out of bed. I was swollen 19 inches larger than my natural size around my waist. I suffered all a man could and live. I tried all remedies for Dropsy: I had three different doct. S. My frie dos allexpected I would nie many nights. I was expected to die before morning. At last Vegetine was sent me by a triend. I never shall forget the first dose. I could realize its good effects from day to day; I was getting better. After I had taken some 5 or 6 bottles I could steep quite well nights. I began to gain now quite fast. After taking some 10 bottles, I could walk from one part of my room to the other. My appetite was good: the dropsy had at this time disappeared. I kept taking the Vegetine until I regained my usual health. I heard of a great many cures by using Vegetine after I got out and was able to attend to my work. I am a carpenter and builder. I will also say it has cured an aunt of my wife's of Neuralgia, who had suffered for more than 20 years. She says she nas not had any neuralgia for eight months. I have given it to one of my children for Canker Humor. I have no doubt in my mind it will cure any humor; it is a g-eat cleanser of the blood; it is safe to give a child. I will recommend it to the world. My father is 80 years old, and he says there is nothing like it to give strength and life to an aged person. I cannot be too that kful for the use of it. I am, Very grateful yours. MR. H R. STEVENS:

ALL DISEASES OF THE BLOOD.—If Vegetine will relieve pain; cleanse, purify, and cure such diseases, restoring the patient to perfect health after trying different physicians, many remedies and suffering for years as it many remedies and suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a sufferer, you can be cured? Why is this medicine performing such great cures? It works in the blood, in the circulating fluid. It can truly be called the Great Blood i urifier. The great source of disease originates in the blood: and no medicine that does not act directly upon it, to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public attention.

Effects of the Storm.

In Panther Branch township, where the storm of Monday night was most severe, a large tree was blown across the house of a Mr. Young. Although the dwelling was much damaged, none of the inmates were injured. In portions of Johnston county the crops have been blown down and up-rooted by the strong winds and the overflowing streams.

A bolt of lightning struck the house of Mrs. Wall, near Rolesville, and knocked her son Jack senseless for an hour. He is yet dangerously ill from his injuries. The bolt also ignited some clothing in the room. Two other members of the family were struck, but not hurt. Near Wake Forest a tenement was struck, and such was the power of the lightning that it moved a bed whereon the occupant lay, over three feet.

A Healthy Body and a Clear Head.

If indigestion, constipation and biliousness torment the body, the head cannot be clear. These disorders react upon the brain most hurtfully, and produce a cloudness in the organ of thought not experienced by a healthy man. Happily these brain-oppressing maladies may be entirely dispelled by that peerless alterative, Hostetter's roomach Bitters, which cheers, refreshes and inthat peerless alterative, Hostetter's riomach Bitters, which cheers, refreshes and invigorates the brain and nerves, while it regulares the organs of digestion, assimilation and bilious secretion. It expels the morbid humors which poison the system through the bowels and urinary passages, and exetsg a powerfully invigorating influence as well its cathartic action is never irritating, violent or painful, but even, natural and progressive. As an appetizer and sleep promoter the Bitters is unrivalled; it mitigates the infirmities of age, relieves the aliments peculiar to the gentler sex, arrests premature decay, and builds up an enfeebled physique, aug 22-st
